1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made:

- 2. Claims 1, 4, 5, and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi et al in view of Thien et al. Kobayashi et al discloses a coupling cover and a method for covering a coupling of a personal watercraft 11 with a hull 12, an engine18, and a jet propeller 24. Not disclosed by Kobayashi et al is a cover with first and second sections which are removable. Thien et al teach a cover with first and second sections which are removable. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the device of Kobayashi et al with a cover with first and second section which are removable as taught by Thien et al for improved sound reducing and ease of assembly.
- 3. Claims 2, 3, and 6-11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
- 4. Claims 12-19 are allowed.
- 5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sayama et al show a cover.
